

“The IACC is like no other organization. It’s full of like minded brand protection professionals willing to collaborate with other members to achieve our common goals.”

Together We Can Make an Impact

At the IACC we celebrate brands’ success and relationship with their customers. We also know that this is in constant threat as a result of counterfeiters looking to take advantage of brands’ goodwill and name.

Counterfeiting is a problem that companies have faced for decades. Yet with the global marketplace and new technologies, counterfeiters are finding new ways to evade authorities. It has become a problem too complex and too large for one country, company or industry to address alone.

We work together to create solutions to the counterfeiting problems brands face each day.

Our relationships with leaders in different industries, governments, and organizations allow us to create innovative solutions to the counterfeiting problem. And this effective and impactful collaboration stems from our diverse and engaged membership.

Whether you are a rights-holder, government, service provider, or association, join us, and work with us to build stronger protections against counterfeiting and piracy around the world.
