Full conference day focusing on Intellectual Property (IP) rights enforcement in times of crisis

This day will be the opportunity for participants to exchange on how to adapt IP protection practices to face the criminal trends threatening IP rights that have been emerging and growing during the latest world crises. The consequences on IP that have been resulting from the COVID-19 crisis and Russia's military aggression over Ukraine will particularly be in the spotlight, as well as the enforcement practices to tackle them. Plenary presentations and breakout discussions will allow experts from diverse sectors to cover a number of IP-related topics, from anti-counterfeiting to anti-piracy.

FRIDAY 28 OCTOBER

Half day of conference focusing on public-private partnership (PPP) in the fight against IP Crime

During this conclusive half-day, experts representing IP Right holders, intermediaries - such as online sale platforms - and law enforcement authorities will be invited to come together to explore opportunities to enhance PPP in diverse areas of IP enforcement. Improving PPP to disrupt criminals operating counterfeiting and online piracy networks, in a context of evolving criminal trends, economic situation and market regulations, will be at the centre of discussion.
